Dies of Mumps at Ninety-five

At the age of 93 Mrs. Cynthia P. Houghtaling of this city died today of mumps. Mrs. Houghtaling was the oldest woman in the city. It was not believed possible at first that at such an age she could be suffering from a disease which she had escaped in her childhood, but her physician declared that it was plainly a case of mumps.

She was very ill from the first and died in a few days.—Holyoke, Mass., dispatch to the New York Times.

Eye Glasses for the Pupils

The matter of furnishing eye glasses for the pupils of the public schools came up again at the meeting of the board of education yesterday, when the elementary schools committee reported in favor of the proposition.

The report stated that $6,000 children in the schools were found to be suffering from physical defects which prevented them from reaping the full advantage of the schools. This could be done away with by buying a few thousand dollars' worth of eye glasses. The report suggested that board of health inspectors and outside eye experts could be engaged to examine all the children in thirty places in the city where dark rooms could be fitted up. It would cost only $30,000 to fit up these rooms; eye glasses could be bought for $6,000, and there you are, with all the children in a good condition to get the benefit of a public school education. After the first year the renewal of the eye glasses wouldn't cost the city more than $5,000 annually, or thereabouts, the report said. It ended with a resolution calling on the board of estimate to supply the necessary money.—New York Sun.

Reflections of a Bachelor

When a girl never looks at any man in a street car it is a sign that she is with her mother.

The only way a woman can account for her shoes hurting her is that she got them a size larger than usual.

About the best recruiting scheme the devil ever got up is to have a man slip on a cake of soap in the bathtub.

"SHORT CARD" PLAYING IN SALOONS STOPPED

Following the council meeting late Thursday night, City Marshal Carico visited all of the local saloons and informed those in charge that the city ordinance prohibiting gambling would have to be obeyed. Since the abolishing of gambling the first of the month there have been started numerous games of draw poker, "pan," bluff and other games, and it was not thought that these games would be interfered with, as no "rakeoff" was being taken by the house, but the word was passed along the line that there will be nothing doing in "short cards" and last night the law was obeyed, not a game being in progress in any of the Broad street saloons.

IS YOUR WATCH IN GOOD ORDER?

When was it oiled and cleaned last? It needs oiling and cleaning once every 18 months at least, whether you think it does or not.

It needs that attention just as sure as an engine does to get the best results. If it is neglected the oil evaporates and a friction is set up that is destructive of the fine mechanism.
